

CARMEI HAIR

A true story of hunger, dignity, and hope in Jerusalem

Modern-day Jerusalem. No siege. No war. Yet people still go hungry.

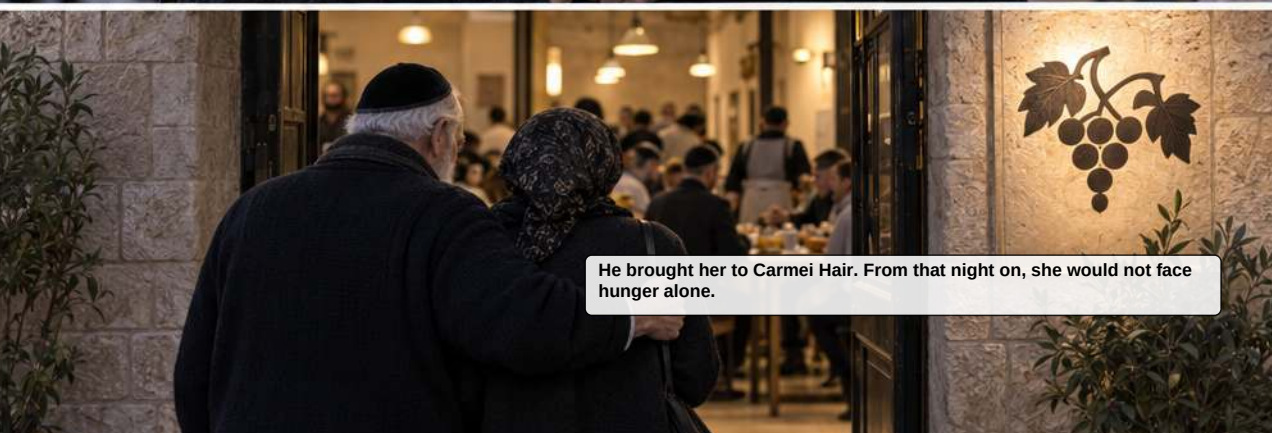

After her husband died, Avigail lost her only means of support. Too proud to ask for charity, she went without food.

One evening near Mahane Yehuda, weakness overtook her.

The elderly stranger understood at once. "You're starving."

He brought her to Carmei Hair. From that night on, she would not face hunger alone.

FOOD, SERVED WITH DIGNITY

A welcoming table - not an institution

Every morning begins with a varied, nourishing breakfast.

Volunteers prepare each meal fresh in a professional kitchen.

The dining room feels like a restaurant. Guests eat at proper tables, without shame.

Hot lunches are plated daily for Jerusalem residents in need.

Shabbat parcels are packed with bread, produce, and pantry staples.

Discreet home delivery helps families protect their privacy and dignity.

MORE THAN A MEAL

Support for children, families, and survivors

Before Passover, essential holiday foods are prepared for families facing added expenses.

School lunches help children learn without the ache of hunger.

Winter aid includes new coats, blankets, and warm clothing.

For survivors living alone, painful memories can be isolating.

Regular gatherings open the door to friendship and belonging.

A shared table offers warmth that food alone cannot provide.

KEEP THE DOOR OPEN

Anyone can fall on hard times

A family can be living normally - until loss, debt, or illness sends everything spiraling.

Too embarrassed to ask, many walk the streets unseen.

Carmei Hair welcomes people as guests, with tact and respect.

A meal restores strength. Community restores hope.

Let no man, woman, or child in Jerusalem go to bed hungry. Help keep the doors open.
